

PECULIAR ACCIDENT

G. M. Lafferty Slips And Breaks A Leg At Edgewater Park.

G. M. Lafferty aged 25, a traveler representing the Home Comfort Range of St. Louis, Mo., who is one of several representatives canvassing this county, sustained a serious accident while bathing at Edgewater Park Sunday afternoon. A large number of people were bathing at the time and Mr. Lafferty had swum across the river and was standing with several others on the north bank where there is a diving board. The bank was slippery from being wet and Mr. Lafferty lost his footing while standing on the bank and fell. In struggling to keep from slipping into the water he caught his leg under him in some way breaking both bones below the knee. A boat was sent across the river and he was brought over and sent to Hotel Latham, where he was stopping, and his injury was attended to by Dr. J. E. Stone.

Woman Past Help

Chandler, Okla.—In a letter from this place, Mrs. Ella Flowers says: "I hardly know how to thank you for the good that Cardui has done me. Before I tried Cardui, I thought I was past help, but after taking it I was relieved at once, and gained at least 10 pounds. Everybody says I look so much better. I am still improving greatly." Many women are completely worn out and discouraged, on account of womanly weakness. Are you? Have you not tried Cardui? It only needs a few doses to convince you that Cardui is just what you need. Try it today. It will cure your pains.

POLL PARROTT

Turns In a Fire Alarm In Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., June 16.—"Fire, lady! fire, lady!" squaled a parrot, belonging to James McGuire, who conducts a grocery store on the Cairo road a short distance outside of the city limits of Paducah.

It was 8 o'clock Thursday morning and no one paid any attention to the "poll" who was swinging in his cage on the porch of the residence adjoining the grocery.

"Fire, lady! fire, lady!" the old parrot yelled again and again. When he didn't get any answer he screeched it out again. Residents for a block around heard the words repeated in all the keys of the rainbow.

After yelling the alarm time after time the old polly would rest and gather wind. Then a few more squawks would follow.

Such a prolonged cry could not fail to attract attention from some source and the bird's perseverance finally brought some one to the porch to see the cause of the nerve racking noise.

A small blaze was lapping out from beneath the eaves of the house where birds had built their nests. A match carried there by the birds or a spark from the flue was smouldering. The smoke had attracted the parrot's attention long before the fire had become dangerous.

A hasty alarm brought house companies Nos. 3 and 5 and truck company No. 4. A line of hose 1,900 feet long, the longest probably in the history of Paducah's fire department, was laid. A bucket brigade made up of nearby dwellers helped in the fight but the entire grocery store with its stock and the adjoining residence, were burned, causing a loss of about $1,500.

The old parrot, who had done its best to give the alarm in time to save the place, was let out of his cage and flew into a nearby tree. There he kept up his cry, filling up the bare spots with derisive laughter and loose tongued advice to the fire men and spectators.

Weather For The Week.

Washington, June 16.—An eastward storm, now over the Great Lakes, and another disturbance to cross the country, appearing in the Northwest about Thursday, were announced in the Weather Bureau's weekly forecast tonight. The prediction was for showers in the East and South the first part of the week, with rising pressure and cooler weather until the latter part of the week in the Middle West and the Eastern States, and fair the next few days over the Middle West and far West.

The next disturbance from the Northwest, prevailing over the Middle West at the close of the week, will be attended by local showers and thunderstorms and preceded by a general rise in temperature.

THRIFT IN WISE SPENDING HOW THE NATIONS TAKE TEA

American Housewife Might Learn Economics of French and Germans.

There is thrift in wise spending, as there is in wise saving. Under pressure of hard times, the heads of the household often have to sit down and consider where to retrench. We are lavish in this country by habit, and no doubt we shall always continue to be so. The small economics of the French and German housewife are seldom practiced by an American housekeeper, unless she has had the good fortune to be trained by an unusually sensible mother. When people seriously take up the matter of income and outgo, they ought to regard that which is of permanent value as worth more than that which is necessarily transient. For example, it is of minor importance whether an old overcoat or a last year's suit is made to do duty for another person. Neither boy nor girl is all the worse for self-denial so far as the fashion of clothing is in concern. Most of us think too much about what the neighbors say. In the effort to keep up with other people we use up time and strength to no advantage. What we spend on good literature for the home, on the bright and breezy magazine that week by week and month by month adds to the family stock of ideas and helps in the education of the children, is a good investment.—Christian Herald.

MAKING THE CLOTHES LAST

Suits and Shoes Need Attention and Rest and Will Profit Much Therefrom.

Clothes need rest as well as people. When I come home from my work daily I take off my business suit, brush and cleanse it and hang it away carefully on its proper hanger. My street shoes next receive attention. Afterward I put on a comfortable house gown and slippers. Both my clothes and I profit by the rest and change. On my weekly holidays I mend and press my clothes and do the necessary refurbishing.

I always follow three cast-iron rules concerning clothes:

Never throw away anything that can be made over.

Never lounge in good clothes.

Plan the entire outfit carefully before buying any part of it.

By buying late in the season I often get serviceable bargains.—F. K., in Harper's Bazar.

INOPPORTUNE.

He was arrested on the charge of robbing another of his watch and chain. It was claimed that he had thrown a bag over his victim's head, strangled and robbed him.

There was so little evidence, however, that the judge quickly said: "Discharged."

The prisoner stood still in the dock, amazed at being given his liberty so soon.

"You're discharged," repeated the judge. "You can go. You're free."

Still no move from the prisoner, who stood staring at the judge.

"Don't you understand? You have been acquitted. Get out," shouted the judge.

"Well," stammered the man, "do I have to give him back his watch and chain?"

OPPORTUNITIES.

A young man has always had to help make his opportunities, and he must do that today as ever. But young men fail more nowadays than they used to because they expect to reap almost as soon as they sow. That is the very great trouble with the young men of the present. They expect opportunities to come to them without application or proper shaping of things so that opportunities will drift their way. You have to keep your eyes open and catch hold of things; they'll not catch hold of you as a rule.—James J. Hill.

CAN'T "LAND" HIS STUFF.

"The prima donna has great faith in her press agent."

"That doesn't help her any."

"Why not?"

"Because no city editor has any faith in her press agent."

NOW YOU KNOW.

"What's the difference between a footpad and an idler?"

"I'm in a hurry. What's the difference?"

"The idler takes his time and the footpad takes your time."

In Some Countries the Serving of the Pleasant Drink is Much of a Ceremony.

In England, France and Germany tea is made in much the same peculiar way, but in other countries the method of enjoying the cup which cheers is a more picturesque ceremony.

In China, for example, a large, artistic cup is set in a brass or silver holder, and in this cup the tea is placed and covered with boiling water. A little saucer which just fits it is placed inside the cup to keep in the steam and flavor of the tea. When it is drawn it is poured from the big cup into dainty little ones no bigger than an eggshell. The method followed in Japan is almost similar.

Tea making in Russia is a simple process involving merely the use of a samovar and a slice of lemon or of lime.

In Java tea is served in broad, flat cups and flavored with Batavia arrack, and in Formosa it is steeped with tea flowers and one or two orange flowers.

For their tea drinking the Uruguayans employ silver tubes, each of which has at the end a ball-like strainer, known as a bomba or bombilla.

In Martinique an aromatic tea is used, and a peculiar liquor made by the monks and by the old French housewives is added.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

IT DIDN'T LAST

"A girl called me a perfect gentleman last night."

"Well, you may have been last night, but you're all over it today."

SIMPLE EXPLANATIONS.

There are two things about San Juan which are to be found in almost every part of Spanish America where there are mountains or highlands. One is the statue of Columbus. The other is the castle of El Morro. Most people of the United States are more familiar with Morro castle in Havana. When they hear there is another Morro at Santiago in Cuba, and then another in Porto Rico they wonder what it means. The explanation is quite simple. These castles or citadels are located on projecting necks of high land which dominate the harbor entrances. El Morro in Spanish simply means "the snout."—Christian Herald.

AVIATOR'S PROPHECY.

A. V. Roe, one of the best-known aviators in England, makes the startling prophecy in the London Mirror that the hydroplane of the future will carry 1,000 passengers and revolutionize ocean travel. He says the speed obtainable will be enormous, exceeding 150 miles an hour, and, as the hydroplane will soon be as safe as any human invention can be, it will do away with seasickness. There is little doubt that ocean travelers would choose it in preference to a steamship. If Roe's startling prophecy is realized passengers from New York will be in London twenty-four hours after their start.

ADDITIONS TO BRITISH NAVY.

During the year 1911 forty warships were launched in the British navy. These include eight super-dreadnoughts, carrying 13.5 guns; two protected cruisers, two unarmored cruisers, twenty-three torpedo boat destroyers and five submarines. These ships aggregated 221,000 tons and will cost when completed over $86,000,000.

PERTINENT QUERY.

"A good appetite is a great advantage," said the physician.

"To whom?" asked Mr. Growcher; "me or the grocer?"

WARD HEADLEY

Princeton Attorney, Died in Louisville Saturday.

Ward Headley, the well-known attorney of Princeton, died in a Louisville hospital Saturday, aged 41 years. As He Understood It.
A Portobello (Scotland) schoolboy has produced the champion howler of the season. The passage for paraphrase was from Kingsley: "For men must work and women must weep, though storms be sudden and waters deep, and the harbor bar be moaning." "Men and women," said the youngster, "must keep on working though the inn at the harbor is groaning for its customers."

All Is Vanity.

"This is a very fine dog, ma'am, and cheap at the price," said the dealer. "I've no doubt of it," she replied; "but I don't care to buy him until I'm sure he matches my new gowns."—Judge.

FIGHT OVER A WOMAN

And One Negro Uses Knife and Stick on Another.

Cecil Woosley, a negro boy working for the D. W. Kitchen Co. passed Peace Park Saturday night and saw Will Gordon and Jack Gray, two negro men, quarreling. He went out Campbell street and returned a few minutes later and found Gray lying senseless on the ground. He reported it to Officer Haydon at the substation near by and the unconscious man was brought to the depot and placed on the platform. In addition to a blow on the head that knocked him senseless, he had been slashed with a knife on his right side. The wound was a scratch, but bled freely. He soon recovered consciousness, about the time a train came in and Officer Haydon left him temporarily to look after the train and during the confusion Gray got up and disappeared, going to his home in "Son Domingo." No arrests have been made as yet.

The fight is said to have been about a woman.

Gray is not the house-mover of that name, but a much younger man of the same name.

WHIPPING AS FINE ART

Official Directions for Admin- istering Punishment in Korea.

The Official Gazette contains an administrative order giving minute directions as to the method of corporal punishment as meted out in the Korean peninsula.

The culprit shall lie on his stomach, his hands stretched out above his head and fastened. Straps are to be passed around the body and around the knee joints and arms, with the clothes so arranged as to expose the hips. The executioner shall stand with his whip at arm's length, the tip protruding three inches over the edge of the prisoner's body. The executioner's left hand shall be on his left side, palm upward, and right foot in advance and bearing the weight of the body.

The stroke is to be delivered perpendicularly, and the skin is under no circumstances to be broken. The punishment is to take place one hour after a meal, and the prisoner, if he requires refreshment during the operations, shall be given a drink of fresh water.

The notice has provided the Tokyo press with an opportunity for displaying its wit. It is suggested that Mr. Yamamoto, minister of finance, might obtain something toward covering the deficit in the budget by making the spectacle a public one at a charge of a penny a head for spectators.

SUES SLAYER OF HUSBAND.

Mrs. Will Bowles Files Action for $5,000 Against Harvey Southard.

Madisonville, Ky., June 16.—Mrs. Will Bowles, whose husband was killed recently at Hanson, has instituted suit against Harvey Southard, who killed her husband, for the sum of $5,000, alleging that the murder was done maliciously, intentionally, and not in self-defense. She further says she is deprived of his assistance, service and companionship.

ITALIANS BADLY WHIPPED

Turks and Arabs Killed Many and Routed All The Rest.

London, June 14.—Turkish troops and their Arab allies won a big victory Wednesday at Homs, according to a news agency correspondent in Tripoli, who says a great number of Italians were left dead on the field while the Turkish casualties were only fifty killed and 150 wounded. The battle lasted seven hours. The routed Italians left several cannon and quantities of small arms and stores on the field.
